What does OhioLINK offer
all citizens and students?

Tens of millions of high quality academic and scholarly books, eBooks, eJournals, and databases.

How?

Over 40 million print books:

- Sign up for a State Library of Ohio card to borrow OhioLINK circulating print materials. For more information, consult the State Library website at library.ohio.gov.
- If your local public library is a member of SearchOhio, you can borrow OhioLINK print materials. Check with your library to see if they are a member or look for the Search OhioLINK button in your public library catalog.
- Ask your closest OhioLINK institution library about a community membership. Many member libraries, especially public institutions, offer this for a nominal fee.

Databases, eJournals and other digital materials:

- Visit an OhioLINK library in person. You can use OhioLINK digital materials such as eJournals and databases on site while in the library. Call your nearest OhioLINK institution to check for more information; see the web at ohiolink.edu/members.
- Any Ohio resident can also access OhioLINK digital materials such as eJournals and databases on site at the State Library of Ohio.

Ohio college students, faculty and staff can access OhioLINK materials in person and remotely via their institutional libraries.

The Benefits

- Statewide Collaboration

Local academic libraries, SearchOhio and the State Library of Ohio maintain partnerships for shared statewide resources.

- Libraries Connect Ohio

Academic, public, and school libraries partner to support transitions from K–12 to college to lifelong learning for Ohio citizens.

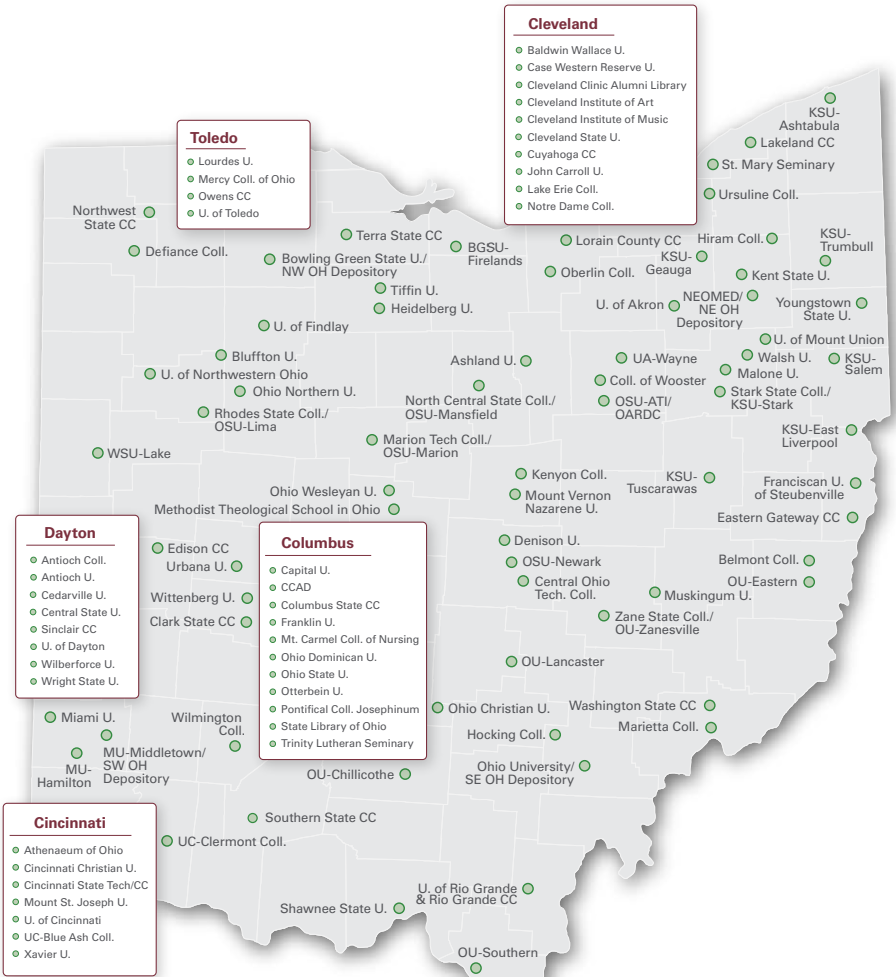

These partnerships allow for significant cost savings to all taxpayers and an increased amount of content available.

OhioLINK is both a state agency under the Department of Higher Education and a cooperative sharing network of member libraries. Statewide library collaborations benefit all Ohioans by making an increased amount of content available to every Ohioan at significant cost savings.

OhioLINK libraries, SearchOhio public libraries, INFOhio K–12 libraries and the State Library of Ohio maintain partnerships for cost effective shared resources. That includes Libraries Connect Ohio, which provides a common set of resources to support academic transitions and lifelong learning for Ohio citizens. See ohioweblibrary.org for more information.
